Hello friend

I'm not trying to be insensitive, but the average guy walks around clueless to the Powers of the Mind.

You already know this.

So today (in the spirit of having a Mind Advantage over the average guy), I have something to share...

But first, let's make a few things clear...

Basically, everything I teach has to do with signals. (if you really want to simplify it)

Like I said before, I used to be a Signal Processing Electrical Engineer. For years, I lived and breathed "signals". I became obsessed with signal transformation, manipulated signals, analyzing signal frequencies and all of that stuff..

After awhile I realized that most of "signal theory" applies to your powers with women:

The right Conversational Signals will shape her perception of you.
The right Conversational Signals can create different types of urges.

And so on...

In other words, when you are talking to a woman everything you say sends a signal.

If you want to Become Sexually Desirable, then conversationally you would send the 'right signals'.

Reality does not matter.

Because perceptions are formed from conversational signals (good, bad, correct, or incorrect)...

If you invited a girl you just met to your stand-up comedy performance, and everyone laughed except her, then you didn't send the "signal of funniness" to the girl you just met - which means she does not have the perception that you are funny.

So you may have been considered "funny" to everyone else, but you were NOT considered funny to the new girl...

So making it your goal to become even funnier would be meaningless...

Right?

Because you're already funny!

The solution would be to get the new girl to realize (process your signal) that you really are funny...

To sum it up:

You have your Signal Sending Skills.

And you have your Getting Her To Process Your Signal Skills.

Let's really illustrate this:

Basically, every woman's brain is like a "Different Earth" (not to be confused with a different planet)... her brain is just a variation of Earth...with a different arrangement of land and different ratios of Land to Water...

Some women's brains are 70% land, 30% water.
Some women's brains are 30% land, 70% water.
Some women's brains are 98% land, 2% water.

The signals that you send out are like HELICOPTERS... whether it's the signal of funniness, the signal of Sexual Desirability or whatever... those signals are like helicopters...

And it is your goal to land your helicopter on the land portion of her brain.

In other words you could be sending out the Best Mercedes Benz Helicopters, if they are not landing, it's pointless...

Once you land the helicopter, the perception is formed, otherwise it's just going to fall in the massive Ocean of Misunderstanding...

Does that make sense? (pardon the irony)

So today I want you to share with you a course that you might not have ever heard about.

No, it's not free.

It's called Conversional Hypnosis. (I give it 5 out of 5 stars.)

In the wrong hands the techniques are dangerous!
(for obvious reasons)

In the right hands, they just flat out give you an advantage over the Average Guy.
(for obvious reasons)

For example, I just recently used a few techniques to help my son. He was getting picked on by a bully on the school bus. This was about two months ago (middle of January 2008). He came home with a defeated look on his face. He's not like I was when I was his age. I was kind of quiet and did my own thing. He's very extraverted and really tries hard to get along with his peers. To make a long story short, the VERY NEXT DAY (after I have him a game plan), he not only 'used mind techniques' on the bully (which resulted in the bully crying to the bus driver), but he somehow got all of the kids on the bus to verbally assault the bully!

[That part caught me completely by surprise!]

And although I shouldn't be celebrating the emotional breakdown of an 8 year old bully, I must confess that I felt like a proud dad when my son excitedly told me about his Intellectual Conquest over that evil kid!
