

Questions To CR James

Issue # 009

Hello James,

I have been reading some of your stuff and feedbacks from some beneficiaries of your wit. I have a very poor sex life with my girlfriend and in bad need of your advice.

I am 28 and my girlfriend is 21. We've been together since January 2006, four "good?" years, but these hasn't been rosy, especially our sex-life. I met her a virgin and myself barely with some experience. Think I was jealous of her virginity and preserved that for the next sixteen months. It was hard.

We've had wonderful moments until after our first sex, I think. The long and short of our story is that we barely have sex since then. Each of us has the feeling that the other is selfish when it comes to sex. Normally, I make the first moves but she usually turns it down. This makes me to feeling very bad. Even when we do, she's hardly excited to go beyond that. I consider this very frustrating. Please, help us out.

CMR

Hey CMR

First of all, let me state the obvious:

When both people think the other is selfish (in any way), it's a great recipe for a bad relationship...

If SHE is truly selfish (and not you), then you need to at least explain how are functioning happily in a relationship with a SELFISH WOMAN...

From what I hear, SELFISH WOMAN only care about themselves.

- SELFISH WOMAN aren't concerned about your needs.
- SELFISH WOMAN are normally with you for selfish reasons...
- a SELFISH WOMAN won't do anything nice for you unless she gets something out of it.
- a SELFISH WOMAN don't get the concept of doing something nice, thoughtful and kind for someone for no 'self-benefitting' reason...
- SELFISH WOMAN aren't concerned about your happiness.

When someone tells me they just broke up with their girlfriend or wife, the first question I ask him is:

Was she a SELFISH WOMAN?

Because I need to know whether I need to throw a blanket over him, feed him hot soup and let him cry on my shoulder or throw a party for him and give him the world's 'highest' high-five in human history (where we both climb on ladders!)...

So I have to ask you: How have you managed to have a happy relationship with a SELFISH WOMAN?

Ok.. seriously...

If it only seems like she's SELFISH during sex, then that's another story...

It could mean there's just a misunderstanding somewhere - which is normal - it just means he needs to work harder at figuring out her perspective so that he can create a "laser-focused game plan"...

This may require you doing things "that doesn't make sense to you" because it's MORE in alignment with how she MAKES SENSE of the world and her outlook (which is clearly and understandably different than yours)...

Hey CR

Does writing poems for a girl help to increase the sexual tension? or does it decrease? She always does it for me, should I do it back?

Thanks

Hey [Alex]...

If you're capable of writing a poem, it could definitely help...especially if it's at the right time and it contains the right messages.... It really depends on how she perceives it..

In some situations it could decrease the tension...even though she's generally flattered..

You could also increase ST by giving her a great compliment about her poems.... making her feel special..

...keeping her more in an 'eager to impress you' mind state..

...like if you said something to the affect that her style is completely different than anything you have ever heard.

And encouraging her to write for you more...which keeps her in this type of mind state....

Hey CR

So what would be a right message then? Is there something the poem has to tell?

Or does this depend on the women?

Thanks

You'll get better results complimenting her poems than spending time crafting the right poem for her... (if your secret goal is to have a powerful affect on her)

It's less effort + Has a higher % of success + Is likely to have a stronger affect...

Hey CR

I gave her a compliment about her poems and she was speechless!

I told her that I was reading some of them and that I noticed that her writing style is really different than other peoples.

You make them really special. I think they are really wonderful (walked to her gave her a kiss and walked further to the kitchen)

She followed me and was only starring at me. Then after a while she said: I don't know why, but I can't say a thing.

Was this a big success?

Kind regards

Was this a big success? LOL

Yes my friend...

Whenever you say something to a woman and she becomes speechless, it's a success (if your goal was to have a powerful affect on her)

If you have a copy of Super Seduction Power, please go back and read the Super Compliment Technique (all 4 steps), you'll see that you've performed a "baby version" of it perfectly...

The secret purpose of the SC Technique is to teach/prove to guys that 'saying things' can have a very powerful effect on women...

When I first done the SC, I was blown away [Alex]....in my case, it was by accident...I wasn't saying it strategically...I feel dumb, because it was like years later, that I reflected back on what I said that I realized that it presses a major button in women...

After that, it changed the way I saw women forever!

I realized that creating an EMOTIONAL IMPACT is more powerful than I initially thought...(especially if it's a UNIQUE EMOTIONAL IMPACT)...

At the time, I just got the phone number of the hottest girl I ever approached (or seen) and I was nervous just talking to her on the phone....

I told her that she has a personality different than anything I've ever experienced along with other stuff....and the first time we were alone in her house, she made reference to the compliment and practically raped me...

Although, in your case, your girl was speechless..... it's still a powerful affect...

(One of the easiest forms of seduction is CONVERTING 'powerful affects' into sex. And in many cases (like my first experience with it) it will happen all by itself...)

It's a lasting affect!

Your girlfriend will NEVER forget what you said....

Yes... it was definitely a success.. lol

At some point in the near future, she's going to have a strong urge to have sex...and 'her thinking about your comment' is going to be a major part of it...

And just think it's was EASY to say....and it didn't take that long....

P.S. Having A Powerful Affect On A Woman is actually Lesson #7 In Extreme Magical Confidence (<http://ExtremeMagicalConfidence.com>)

- Recap: Here's a list of the 14 Lessons:
- Here's where it gets interesting. As you can see, the first 11 Lessons are motivational in natural.
- They're simple, but the power lies in BRANDING those concepts into your brain.
- So read Lessons 1 - 11 as often as possible - even though on some level, you get it and you know it.
- Lessons 12-14 require you to create a list. And the idea is to BRAND the list into your brain
- Read them a minimum of 3 times per day.
