

When It Comes To Approaching Women, Successful Guys Do Things Differently

<< ...compared to Average Guys >>

For starters, they don't obsess over what to say. They don't care about awkward silences. They don't care if the woman isn't interested in him.

However, that's not the biggest difference.

In fact, a guy can take the same approach and fail miserably if he doesn't understand the biggest difference.

I've talked to hundreds of guys about this situation and I have figured out that the guys who were good at approaching women perceive women differently than the guys who are afraid to approach women.

- Successful guys see women as being tender, soft and gentle.
- Successful guys understand that women aren't perfect.
- Successful guys know that most women are good-natured.
- Successful guys realize women love to be approached by a respectful guy who is down to earth.

Afraid Guys put women on this enormous un-realistic pedestal. So the idea of approaching a woman FEELS as though he's a dirty homeless guy approaching a super hot woman who's the vice-president of a Fortune 500 company.

- Afraid Guys think that if one woman doesn't like him, it means that all women don't like him.
- Afraid Guys think that if a woman doesn't like him, it's the pain-equivalent to being stabbed in the stomach 17 times.
- Afraid Guys think the more attractive the girl, the less she's going to like him.

Successful guys realize that some women (very attraction, average, or unattractive) will like him and some women (very attraction, average, or unattractive) will not.

And it's no big deal.

I was talking to one guy who said in so many words said that the prettier and more attractive the woman is, the more stuck up she is going to be...

I was like: "Really? That makes sense to you?"

Not to be un-poetically over-logical, but there are:

1. Unattractive women who ARE stuck up.
2. Attractive women who ARE stuck up.
3. Unattractive women who ARE NOT stuck up.
4. Attractive women who ARE NOT stuck up.

Successful guys can't wait to approach women.

Afraid guys won't approach a woman if he doesn't have his lucky shirt on. He looks for reasons to give himself an out to maintain the illusion that it was a situational thing.

If you ask a successful guy when was the last time he approached a girl, he'll wonder if it was Thursday or Friday. If you ask an Afraid Guy when was the last time he approached a girl and he'll change the subject. For some reason, they're not able to make the connection between "their invisible sex lives" and "not talking to women".

It's like seeing someone repeatedly trip over bottles of water as they complain about being dehydrated.

If you want to get better results, you have to do things differently.

You have to focus on:

Mind state + Strategy

Not just one! Both!

So if you're a guy who is afraid of rejections and/or your confidence is low (as a single guy or relationship guy) you must fix it....

... For Your Mind State:

10 Distinctions Between Super Desirable Guys
and Average Guys (single guys & relationship guys)

SuperPowerMedia.com/10-Distinctions.html

...For Your Strategy

SuperApproachPower.com [single guys only]

SuperSeductionPower.com [single guys & relationship guys]

